Lahey CLINIC

Lahey Clinic Canadian Foundation Update

Dear Friends/Chers Amis,

In this Update, we are proud to announce the arrival and progress of three Canadian residents at Lahey Clinic and hope you enjoy learning more about them. Philanthropic support helps to underwrite the more than $245,000 it costs each year to provide salaries and indirect cost items for these three medical residents.

A Canadian "medical resident" is a medical doctor who is completing a training program to become board-certified in a specialty field such as internal medicine. Canadian residencies at Lahey are designed to provide the trainee with comprehensive specialty and subspecialty training through direct exposure, formal instruction, and broad clinical experience in both inpatient and outpatient settings.

Thanks to Canadian generosity, we are able to attract the best and brightest physicians and provide them with the advanced training that will allow them to make a tremendous difference in the care and lives of your fellow Canadians.

The partnership between Lahey Clinic and the Canadian medical community continues to grow. We are proud to have friends like you who make this remarkable medical education program possible. Thank you/Merci.

Appreciation Comments from Incoming & Outgoing Canadian Residents

Incoming Resident: Dr. Herbert Ip, who begins his Lahey residency this summer—

"My residency experience at Lahey Clinic is providing me with a comprehensive clinical exposure to multiple subspecialties, both inpatient and outpatient. With tremendous support and teaching from this program, I feel my training will prepare me well in the future as I make the transition into professional practice."

Outgoing Resident: Dr. Michael Tsoukas, who completes his Lahey residency this summer—

"Lahey Clinic was my top choice for postgraduate medical training in the United States, and it surpassed even my highest expectations. In my three years, I received comprehensive training from respected physicians in all subspecialties, dedicated didactic teaching, invaluable outpatient and inpatient experiences, as well as critical care responsibilities. Working in such a friendly environment allowed me to become a part of the Lahey Clinic family and made the start of my career as a physician very enjoyable. I am confident about my excellent preparation as a resident and I now look forward to continuing my training at the prestigious Endocrinology and Metabolism fellowship program at McGill University."
