

Lahey Hospital & Medical Center's Certificate Program in Medical Research

Lahey Hospital and Medical Center is pleased to invite students from varying levels of education (including high school students, undergraduate students, graduate or medical school students, and students in their "gap years" between high school and undergraduate school, or between undergraduate school and graduate or medical school) to submit applications to participate in a unique summer program that aims to educate, train and encourage the next generation of clinical, translational and outcomes researchers. This program helps students better understand research methods, ethics, regulations, career opportunities, and gain "real world" experience in an academic hospital setting.

The program requirements include completion of online courses, attendance at weekly lectures and Journal Club meetings, completion of practicum hours, and a final presentation summarizing your program experience. The curriculum includes topics, such as: History of Clinical Research, Research Methods, FDA New Drug and Device Regulatory Approval Processes, Human Subjects Protections, Animal Welfare, Ethical Conduct of Research, Medical Simulation, Research Funding Mechanisms, and Research Career Development Pathways.

*Please complete the application below, and include: (i) a personal statement on why you are applying and should be selected to enroll in the program, (ii) a resume or CV, (iii) parental consent (for students under the age of 18), and (iv) letter(s) of recommendation (optional). This program matches students with physician investigators and scientists based on your interests, so please include that information in your personal statement.
